Notes

1. Nasdaq CXC market data customers that receive an Open Feed directly from Nasdaq CXC will be provided with one free unicast recovery session as part of the product offering. Multiple usages of multicast market data by the customer or a Related Party is considered to be a single Open Feed only. All additional unicast recovery sessions will be considered additional Open Feeds and will be charged accordingly. The determination of what constitutes an Open Feed may be different than that employed by Nasdaq CXC and may differ between vendors.

The Market Data Fees for Clients subscribing to TMX IP products will be charged at the User/Subscriber Vendor/Distributor Feed Fee Schedule as applicable. For Clients entering into an agreement with the TMX to receive Nasdaq CXC data via the TMX IP, in the case of any inconsistency between the terms of the Nasdaq CXC Data Distribution Agreement and the agreement with the TMX IP, the terms of the Nasdaq CXC Data Distribution Agreement will override.

2. A Primary Open Feed is defined as the first Open Feed that is consumed by a market data customer. In the case where both a Level 1 and Level 2 feed are consumed by a customer, the Primary Open Feed will be considered to be the Level 2 feed. In the case where multiple Open Feeds are consumed by a customer (whether from Nasdaq CXC directly or a third party), the most expensive Open Feed will be considered the Primary Open Feed. All other Open Feeds will be considered additional Open Feeds and charged at their appropriate rate.
3. Third party Open Feed fees apply to clients receiving data from distributors/vendors of Nasdaq CXC CXC Level 1 and Level 2 feed products.
4. A User that does not meet the definition of a Non Professional shall be deemed to be a Professional and is subject to the fees specified for Professionals.
