

Nasdaq Corporate Values Statement

The following statement articulates Nasdaq's core values on these issues and its requirements, expectations, and aspirations with respect to its internal operations and its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, suppliers, and customers. As a concerned and responsible corporate citizen, Nasdaq believes it is important to express its own values publicly. In doing so, however, Nasdaq does not intend to suggest that others, including its listed companies, members, and other market participants, must do the same. Each company is different with unique values, traditions, and business models. With regard to other public policy areas impacting public companies, we have long believed that one size does not fit all. So it is here.
